During the process the labour room staff is undergoing multiple training sessions. These sessions are conducted online with the purpose of sensitising and teaching the staff about the antenatal, intra-natal and post-natal care of mother and child. The staff is trained not only for identifying high risk patients but also delivering consistently safe, respectful and quality care. This training is helping to improve quality and standardise the labor room staff and makes them more confident to identify and act upon the complications faced in labor room.
