| 7. | Brief summary of the event in around 100 words (purpose, conduct, feedback, impact, suggestions) | The Department of Biochemistry organized creative and academic competitions for I MBBS students, including Poster Making, Model Making, Rangoli Competition, and Flameless Cooking Competition. The event aimed to encourage creativity, teamwork, scientific thinking, and extracurricular participation among students. All students of I MBBS enthusiastically participated in the activities. The competitions provided a platform for students to showcase their talents beyond academics while integrating themes related to health, nutrition, and biomedical sciences. The poster competition was judged by Dr. Janice Jaison and Dr. Madhu Bansode, who evaluated the posters based on scientific accuracy, creativity, clarity, and presentation. The judges for Model making were Dr. Smita Bhide and Dr. Rupali Baburdikar, who assessed the models on originality, relevance, explanation, and overall presentation. The Rangoli competition was judged by Dr. Sandhya Kulkarni and Dr. Gauri Apte, who evaluated the entries based on creativity, theme relevance, neatness, and overall impact. The Flameless Cooking Competition focused on preparing healthy and nutritious dishes without the use of fire. The judges for this event were Dr. Aastha Pande and Mrs. Viranchi Musale, who judged the participants on nutritional value, taste, presentation, and creativity. The winners of each competition were felicitated and appreciated for their outstanding performances. The event concluded on a positive note with encouragement from the faculty, motivating students to continue participating in such co-curricular activities. Feedback from the judges as well as other faculty members was recorded. |
