7.	Brief summary of the event in around 100 words (purpose, conduct, feedback, impact, suggestions)	1st year MBBS students participated in an engaging and interactive AETCOM session titled "My First Interaction with Family Physician," held in the Anatomy lecture hall from 2 PM to 4 PM. The activity was designed to enhance student's understanding of effective communication. The students were divided into two groups and they performed skits portraying scenarios of positive interaction between a physician and a patient, as well as a physician skillfully handling a troublesome patient. Following each performance, the opposing team asked insightful questions to the performing group, fostering critical thinking and deeper discussion. The students demonstrated remarkable enthusiasm, team spirit, and collaborative effort throughout the session. The event culminated with faculty members from the Department of Anatomy sharing fundamental principles of effective communication. This activity proved to be a valuable brainstorming session for both students and faculty, with many voluntarily sharing their personal experiences with their family physicians. The session provided a platform for students to explore and understand the importance of patient-physician interactions.
