On 3rd August, a CME was organised which emphasised the importance of breastfeeding. This CME was attended by 20 staff nurses of Labour room, Antenatal ward, Postnatal ward and OT. It was also attended by 54 Nursing students. Seven Anganwadi workers and MSW (multipurpose social workers) also participated in the event. There were didactic lectures and interactive sessions where the eminent speakers and lactation consultants spoke about correct breastfeeding practices, importance of milk donation, and common myths and mistakes associated with breast feeding and breast health. The delegates participated enthusiastically and interacted with the faculty. The department of OBGY is committed to establish early breastfeeding and support the lactating mothers. The training of nursing and paramedical staff in breastfeeding is the step towards this direction.
