Brief summary of the event in around 100 words (purpose, conduct, feedback, impact, suggestions)	The antibiotic stewardship committee at MIMER Medical College arranged an orientation regarding antimicrobial resistance and stewardship in all the clinical departments of the institute. Dr Priya Karmani , Asst. Prof. in the department of OBGY conducted this session in the department of OBGY on 20th June 2025 . The faculty members of the department including the postgraduate students and the interns attended this orientation session. The rising trend of resistant microorganisms, injudicious use of antibiotics and need for a proper system to promote stewardship were discussed in detail. The Postgraduate students in the department were sensitized regarding preventive measures in day to day clinical and surgical work. The faculty contributed actively in the discussions suggesting changes at department level. Surgical antibiotic prophylaxis was discussed in detail regarding dose and drug to be used for the same. The department of OBGY continues to work towards effective changes in surgeries and clinical practice to reduce the resistant bacteria's and promote an environment of prevention of infections with judicious evaluation and treatment.
