12.	Brief summary of the event in around 100 words (purpose, conduct, feedback, impact, suggestions)	Every month, POGS holds an online masterclass via Zoom, where postgraduate students from various medical colleges participate to discuss a case. This month, it was our department's turn, and Dr. Priyanka Kamdar (JR-3) and Dr. Charvi (JR-2) presented a case on Rh-negative pregnancy. They were rigorously questioned by fetal medicine experts and faculty members, but our students responded confidently and received commendation from the examiners. The session concluded with a quiz on Kahoot, where Dr. Charvi emerged as the winner. In the Department of Obstetrics & Gynaecology, we are committed to providing

		quality education and exposing our students to new challenges in the field.

		The students also appreciated this exposure which not only helped them academically but also was a boost to their confidence.
